

ABSTRACT

METHOD OF FORMING A DIFFUSION BARRIER ON A TITANIUM ALLOY SUBSTRATE

A phosphate bonded ceramic is used to provide a diffusion barrier on a titanium alloy substrate, conferring degradation (eg oxidation) resistance to the alloy. The substrate may, for example, be an aerospace component such as a part of a gas turbine engine.